

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 14, 2019
TWO SECTIONS | $2.00

DAILY REPORT

A SMART READ FOR SMART READERS

INSIDENEWS

An ex-Troutman secretary's suit in New York claims sexual misconduct, retaliation. p. 4
After Hours: Photos from Swift Currie, Legal Food Frenzy and state bar events. p. 5
Staffers feel left out of the legal focus on mental health. p. 6

HD8001 30324105
D POSTON
POSTON COMMUNICATIONS
#225
1440 DUTCH VLY PL NE
ATLANTA GA 30324
438504

An ALM Publication

reel

ates Sue Trump's Over 'Do-Nothing' onmental Rule

nty-two states filed suit
ay to block a Trump stration plan to roll back pollution limits on fossil pendent power plants.
petition asks the U.S.
of Appeals for the D.C.
to review the U.S. Envi-
ntal Protection Agency's ublished in the Federal er in July, to repeal the
a-era Clean Power Plan
eplace it with what critics
nd is a more business-
y proposal.

e challengers allege the o administration rule vio-
he federal Clean Air Act by ening pollution standards, cting the EPA's regulatory
ority and barring states participating in cap-andprograms.

Beasley Allen attorneys Rob Register (from left), Chris Glover and Dan Philyaw represented the man who sued Charter Communications in Gwinnett County over the accident in Dalton.

Six-Lawyer Tax Controversy Group Jumps to MendenFreiman

MEREDITH HOBBS | mhobbs@alm.com

MENDENFREIMAN HAS added a six-lawyer tax controversy practice from another business law boutique, Gomel Davis & Watson.

The group, which arrived in July, is led by partners Lance Einstein and Jeffrey Kess. Rounding out the team are senior associate Chris Chitty and associates Amy McGehee, L. Ashley Duel and Matt Paolillo.

Einstein said MendenFreiman, a trusts, estates and business law boutique, offers good synergies for a tax controversy practice. All of the lawyers in the group are tax attorneys, he said, while some also

A Fallen Ladder

After Hours

Spotlights lawyers' lives outside their offices

1. Swift Currie hosted its annual Sip & Soak on July 18 at Nail Talk Tan & Spa Perimeter, providing 51 clients with manicures and pedicures and serving hors d'oeuvres, desserts and beverages in appreciation for their hard work and dedication and to offer them some rest and relaxation. Partner Marion Martin (second from right) with clients. 2. Attorney Crystal McElrath (right) with a client during the firm's Sip & Soak event. 3. Georgia Attorney General Chris Carr (from left) and Georgia Food Bank Association Executive Director Danah Craft presented this year's Legal Food Frenzy's Law School Cup to Mercer University School of Law, represented by Dean Cathy Cox. 4. The Legal Food Frenzy's Bar President's Cup was presented to Coleman Tally of Valdosta. Shown are (from left) Georgia Attorney General Chris Carr, Tim Tanner, Georgia Food Bank Association Executive Director Danah Craft, Tom Kurrie and Kara Hope Hansen. 5. The Mentorship Academy of the State Bar of Georgia's Labor & Employment Law Section kicked off its 2019-2020 program with an orientation for its 14 new mentees and mentors, pairing seasoned attorneys with less-experienced ones who represent employees, employers, in-house, unions, union members, and government agencies.